Like many people who love their dogs, knowing how to train them is a problem. Meeko was my 3 month old untrained, spunky, out of control, loveable Shih Tzu.

Within twenty minutes Rory O'Neill had her sitting and had restored my belief that I hadn't purchased a very large mistake. It took less than one month to train her to sit and stay, lay down, kennel up, and not dash out of the yard when the gate was open.

Housebreaking took less than two weeks. Meeko also had a severe barking problem that was under control in the first week.

I really can't say enough about Rory. She worked with my two little granddaughter's to teach them how to control Meeko with hand gestures and a firm voice, which saved all of us the worry of them getting hurt or scratched. Rory was kind and firm with my training and took the time to explain why I was doing what I was doing.

The end result is that at a year old Meeko is trained, social, and able to be around people that love her without being a problem. I have recommended Rory to my friends and consider it a privilege to recommend her to anyone.

Sincerely,

Meeko's Owner
